

Cynthia Hughes Director, Clinical Integration

Cynthia Hughes is an influential leader with 20+ years of experience in healthcare with an emphasis on patient-centric goals, physician engagement, strategic cost-saving initiatives, project management, departmental growth, staff development, and process improvement.

As the Director of Clinical Integration, Cynthia partners with the TPC Members to collaborate on value-added initiatives. She utilizes her talents to improve financial value, clinical outcomes, and operational efficiencies. She engages all stakeholders to include Member executives, department leaders, and physicians to support clinical initiative sustainability and long-term TPC value. She serves as a primary resource for overseeing compliance to clinical initiatives that depend on maintaining commitment levels; thereby, working with the Clinical Value Analysis Team leads, serving as a liaison between the CVATs and the CSC to overcome barriers to change and mitigate compliance risks.

Cynthia received her undergraduate degree, Bachelor of Science in Nursing, from Midwestern State University. Her graduate degree, Master of Business Administration, with a healthcare emphasis, was received from Walden University. In 2015, Cynthia received the Palmetto Gold Award which is a recognized honor for Top 100 RNs in the state of South Carolina. She is also a member of the ACHE.
